

THIS WEEK AT MOORLAND

YEAR 4 VISITED THE ASHMOLEAN MUSEUM

The Ashmolean Museum in Oxford is the University of Oxford's museum of art and archaeology. Founded in 1683, it is the oldest public museum in the UK. During our Year 4 school trip, we were excited to explore its amazing collections, including real Egyptian artefacts. The visit helped us learn about ancient history and see objects from the past up close.

Moorland's Question of the Week!

19

I think children should be allowed to bring toys because it can make playtime more fun and help them feel happy and comfortable at school. Sharing toys can also help us make friends.

I think we should only bring toys on certain days, like 'show and tell' or reward days. That way we still have fun without it causing problems every day.

Mrs Garner

Should we be able to bring toys to school?

Miss Norfolk

Mrs Carson

I think toys should stay at home because they can distract us from learning. People might argue or get upset if something gets lost or broken.

I think children can bring toys, but there should be rules. For example, no expensive toys, no sharing during lessons, and we must take care of them.
